

I would like to tell you the differences between learning English in my ordinary school and on Saturday School.

To begin with, I am not learning as much English as I should in my ordinary school because my teacher spends more time playing games rather than teaching us high-level grammar structures.

Furthermore, we should not forget the importance of having native speakers in classes since they can help us with grammar and vocabulary as well as to practise oral exercises in order to improve our pronunciation.

Last but not least, many students are embarrassed when they have to speak English in front of a class in my ordinary school. However those who attend private English classes are eager to do it.

Therefore, I am really grateful to my parents for signing me up in British School. If I had not studied at this school I would not have developed my English skills so much.

*Paula, 16
B2-level class*